ALDI Recalls Priano Protein Carbonara Tortelloni and Priano Protein Herb & Cheese Tortelloni Because Of Possible Health Risk

ALDI of Batavia, IL, is recalling Priano Protein Carbonara Tortelloni and Priano Protein Herb & Cheese Tortelloni sold at select stores because the products may not have been stored, distributed or sold at appropriate temperatures, which may allow growth of pathogens including Clostridium botulinum ("C. botulinum"), a bacterium which can cause life-threatening illness or death. Consumers are warned not to prepare or consume the affected products from the impacted states, even if they do not look or smell spoiled.

Botulism, which can result from ingestion of C. botulinum toxin, is a potentially fatal form of food poisoning that causes the following symptoms: general weakness, dizziness, double vision and trouble speaking or swallowing. Difficulty breathing, muscle weakness, abdominal distension and constipation may also be common symptoms. Consumers experiencing these problems should seek immediate medical attention.

The recalled products were sold at select ALDI stores in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina and were available for purchase in-store and online from stores in those states.

The affected products are:

Product	Lot Number	Best if Used By	Packaging
Priano Protein Carbonara Tortelloni	T9101926	12/18/2026	9 oz. plastic unit
Priano Protein Herb & Cheese Tortelloni	T9101926	12/18/2026	9 oz. plastic unit

No illnesses have been reported to date in connection with this recall to date.

Upon discovery, ALDI immediately took action to remove impacted product from store shelves. Consumers who have purchased the affected Priano Protein Carbonara Tortelloni or Priano Protein Herb & Cheese Tortelloni should discard the products immediately or return them to their local ALDI store for a full refund. Consumers with questions may contact ALDI at 844-484-0332, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. EST.
